Located in Malpaisillo, this Spacious Corner Home presents an excellent opportunity for buyers seeking space, functionality, and development potential within an area known for its strong agricultural activity. The property is also surrounded by everyday conveniences such as parks, schools, clinics, convenience stores, and government offices. The home features 240 square meters of construction on a 1,200 square vara lot. Approximately 70% of the structure is built with concrete block and 30% with natural quarry stone, providing added durability and structural strength. Inside, the property offers a living room, dining area, kitchen, three bedrooms, and one full bathroom. Its practical layout allows for comfortable circulation and efficient use of space throughout the home. Outside, the property includes a patio, parking area, laundry area, and barbecue space. As a corner property, it provides greater flex..
